To contribute to upholding safety and dignity and to prevent and alleviate the suffering of vulnerable migrants (including victims of trafficking and children at risk) in Ejdabya, a region with varying degrees of humanitarian, health, protection, and psychosocial needs, IOM Libya has established a multi-service community center (MRRM base) and a MRRM mobile team in charge of providing a wide range of direct assistance services including food and NFIs distribution, health and medical assistance, Mental Health and Psychosocial Support (MHPSS), protection services and referrals to vulnerable migrants as well as raising awareness on the risks of irregular migration, regular migration pathways, and availability of other services accessible to migrants. Furthermore, the MRRM team implements community-based projects encouraging social cohesion among migrants, host communities, and other groups within the community. The project also foresees workshops and trainings for local authorities and key stakeholders on migration-related topics to build their capacity on migration governance.
